

I believe our public airwaves should be used to inform voters, not mislead them.

Sinclair Broadcasting has chosen to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election . This is a clear example of misuse of the airwaves which I believe, at a minimum, should be followed by equal time for a pro Kerry documentary played back to back so voters can at least see and hear two sides of the issue.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Strong FCC action is needed to curb this type of abuse. Thank you.
